Anything within Digital Performer can be automated, as far as you know, controlling the audio's volume, having it go off and on, equalization, whatever perimeters are within the particular plug-in, all of them can be automated, m-kay? Right here, is some automation controller data, right here, m-kay? What this does is this is controlling the re-verb input off of an auxiliary send, okay? This is a send coming off one of my vocal tracks going into an auxiliary channel that has altverb on it and what I do is I utilize two different re-verbs and I've went over this on another tutorial, and what basically happens is when I'm performing this part, the room is getting bigger at that point
